NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE ARTS AND THE POETRY FOUNDATION ANNOUNCE THE NATIONAL FINALS OF POETRY OUT LOUD: NATIONAL RECITATION CONTEST

State recitation champions to compete before special guest judges in Washington, DC

WHAT: The National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) and the Poetry Foundation announce the National Finals of Poetry Out Loud: National Recitation Contest, a program that encourages high school students to learn about great poetry through memorization, performance, and competition. High school students who advanced from 51 poetry recitation championships in every state and the District of Columbia will gather at the historic Lincoln Theatre in Washington, DC to match their skills in poetry memorization and recitation. High school students grouped in six geographic regions will compete in three daytime semifinal rounds. From there, twelve students will advance to compete in the evening finals. At the Poetry Out Loud National Finals, a total of $50,000 in scholarship prizes and school stipends will be awarded, including $20,000 for the Poetry Out Loud National Champion. A Congressional breakfast will be hosted for the state finalists Tuesday morning.

WHO: Featured speakers and guest judges for the evening national finals include:

- Dana Gioia, Chairman of National Endowment for the Arts
- John Barr, President of The Poetry Foundation
- Caroline Kennedy, poetry advocate
- Scott Simon, National Public Radio, Master of Ceremonies
- Michael Dirda, Pulitzer Prize-winning critic, Senior Book World Editor, Washington Post
- Azar Nafisi, author, Reading Lolita in Tehran
- Curtis Sittenfeld, author, Prep
